

Peace Begins with Me!

- Special events
- Cooperative games
- Art, Dance, Music
- Eco-friendly activities
- Friendship building

The goal for the day is to explore what peace means through learning about peacemakers and how they made peace, through learning about and riding on the Peace Train, which uses non-violent means to solve problems, through making art and music, and through celebration of our day with a Peace Festival and Parade.

Campers are separated by age in three groups of 10-12 children. Each group is led by at least one adult and one or two teens.

Program Direction

Mary Joan and Jerry Park are a Mom and Dad team who have been carrying the ministry of Little Friends for Peace through camps, workshops and other activities since 1981. Part of that ministry has been training adults and teens for peace building work with children. They emphasize a playful and friendly style in teaching peace building skills. They have trained thousands of children and caregivers through communities and agencies including Perry School Community Service Center in Washington, DC.
